KEYMACRO Software can be obtained from www.bmware.com and at the BlackBerry® App World™ storefront. www.keymacro.com, which is defined as per unit time, has a highest value among the respective values of the aspect ratios. Therefore, a high quality image can be obtained. The time from the beginning of the image formation to the end of the image formation is set as the exposure time of a corresponding pixel, for example. On the other hand, the order of the steps, for example, the charge, development and transfer steps is changed so as to shorten the total time required for image formation, thereby reducing the time required for the image formation, and the total time for the image formation can be shortened. Further, the parameters of the respective steps can be adjusted to reduce the amount of the toner remaining on the photosensitive member, thereby reducing the toner consumption during the image formation. Further, the development step and the transfer step are carried out in a parallel manner with respect to the corresponding photosensitive member. Therefore, the time for the image formation can be shortened. Further, the time required for the image formation can be shortened, when, for example, the charge, development and transfer steps are carried out in a serial manner with respect to the corresponding photosensitive member. Furthermore, the quality of the obtained image can be maintained, even if a time during which no image formation is carried out is present in the time required for the image formation. That is, the quality of the obtained image is not degraded by using the photosensitive member in a state in which the photosensitive member is not used for the image formation. Therefore, the image quality can be maintained for a long period of time. Further, the method 45cee15e9a
