Due to a lack of comparability, the Company, in its management discussion and analysis, provides the most similar calculation of EBITDA to that of the proxy statement: it has calculated EBITDA by projecting net income for the year ending December 31, 2013 (2015 constant dollars). As stated in the Annual Report on Form 10-K for the year ended December 31, 2012, no reliability can be assigned to such projections since the future is inherently unpredictable. In addition, past performance does not necessarily imply future results. EBITDA is calculated as net income, which includes non-GAAP adjustments such as foreign exchange impact, loss on extinguishment of debt, and income taxes. Net income is further adjusted for depreciation expense, amortization of intangible assets, lease termination costs, accumulated amortization of deferred financing costs, stock-based compensation, and other discrete special items. In 2011, the Company changed the terms of the financing agreements with its non-controlling interest holders, whereby the Company did not credit its non-controlling interest holders with the amount reflected as deferred financing costs in EBITDA. Accordingly, the Board of Directors reviewed, and has approved the adoption, of an accounting policy for the treatment of the deferred financing costs from the time period of the off-balance sheet arrangements to the present. Under the new accounting policy, the deferred financing costs incurred by
