Tools Category:3D computer graphics software Category:2009 software Category:Design software for Windows Category:Pascal software1. Field of the Invention The present invention relates to a swimming pool, and more particularly to a pool cover having at least one air-tight compartment comprising a separate flexible enclosure adapted to contain at least one of a compressed gas or a gas-cured resin in a liquid state, said enclosure being covered with at least one cover panel. 2. Description of the Related Art Swimming pool covers have been known for many years. However, some of the covers presently known have several disadvantages, including: (1) long assembly and set-up time; (2) many panels to be coupled together to make a cover; and (3) use of high-powered tools to fasten or unfasten fasteners. Thus, the shortcomings of such covers are numerous and longstanding. During the summer, many people use their swimming pools to either ♦
