KEYMACRO is a widget that allows you to use your keyboard while talking. When you activate the widget by clicking on the name of the widget, it asks you to type the key you want to use (if you are using a Mac) or press any button (if you are using a PC). Then it will either play a sound or a message that makes it clear what you have pressed. The messages are translated in 15 languages. Also, in case you are missing a specific keyboard shortcut (like CTRL+ALT+SHIFT+LEFT ARROW), you can use the shortkeyfield widget to activate the widget by pressing it. ACT Language Description: ACT Language is a web-based platform for learning the English language. It has multiple interactive lessons, it has the ability to learn English as a foreign language, and it has the ability to self-learn vocabulary through studying. It allows to upload or download audio and video content for free. It is very useful in learning English and for improving one's pronunciation and fluency. Keymacro Description: Keymacro allows you to speak English with your keyboard. You press a button to talk, and a sound is produced. CET English Talk Crack +

"Thinking About Food" Talk to English People about What they Eat 11:00 AM 11:15 AM Topic: "Thinking About Food" You will have time to sit down and talk with English people about what they eat. When you find people to talk to, we'll ask them about how they cook, what they cook, and what they eat. The presenter and volunteers will introduce themselves, and if the group is too small, one person will take a turn at presenting. English people tend to be happy and friendly - so we can't guarantee it will be easy to get people to talk to you. But we've been doing it for 30 years, and we have some results. For an hour, you'll have the chance to ask: - What they cook - when they cook - what they cook - what they eat - how they eat - what is on their table You will have time to ask questions, so please come prepared. We've been doing this for 30 years, so we know the topics. To learn more about "Thinking About Food", check out this website: Or watch the video: Make sure to join the Thinking About Food facebook group: Want to contact the CET English students who attended?
