Category:Windows programs Category:Security softwareFor many years, it has been known that dental hygiene can be improved by the use of dentifrice compositions containing enzymes. These enzymes have been found to function by removing stains from the teeth and/or by accelerating the removal of plaque and the like from the teeth. Dental compositions have also been suggested which contain combined bacteria which serve to kill dental plaque bacteria. Enzymes have recently been discovered which are useful for oral hygiene. These enzymes have been found to be effective in preventing or controlling dental plaque and gingivitis. It has been known for quite some time that proteolytic enzymes and their usage for oral hygiene is known. See, for example, U.S. Pat.
