First oil change in over 30 years! Cover Girl, a leading global brand of cosmetics, has announced that its headquarters will make its first oil change in over 30 years! Starting November 6th, 2013,

Cover Girl will be converting its existing campus to accommodate new innovations and technology. Leading up to the switchover, the headquarters will be teaming up with Bar-H of St. Louis, Missouri, to facilitate the complete conversion of the building into a state-of-the-art facility. According to a press release, the transition will ensure that Cover Girl is able to stay ahead of future and more environmentally friendly processes, allowing the group to not only continue to serve the brand's fan base, but also to create new ways to enable the growth of the organization. Scheduled for completion by the spring of 2014, the new Cover Girl corporate headquarters will be a 75,000 square foot facility. This will include an entrance, a boardroom, a vault, a coffee break area, an energy center, areas for training and meetings, and of course, more space for the work of the team. Additionally, the new facilities will feature a variety of technological advancements that
