Avoid sudden shock loads during product launch and operation. The clutch assembly should operate quietly and smoothly. During installation and operation of the product, avoid water ingress into the openings and joints of the coupling and pipelines. If there are leaks, the product must be replaced. Before starting operation, install all shut-off devices on the pipeline. It is forbidden to use fittings for this purpose that are not intended for operation in aggressive environments. The coupling is intended for installation and dismantling of pipelines from various materials. The coupling is attached to metal pipes, and the connecting elements are attached to plastic pipes.
