It ends when the colored ball travels over the boundary of the square. In my opinion, it seems to be a Tic-Tac-Toe game. Is it? A: This game is called football (a.k.a soccer) and is a relatively popular sport. The rules are: The ball is round and it doesn't bounce. The field is a rectangular area that has all of the sides numbered, and ends. The field is divided into a grid of numbered squares and a goal (called a goalpost) is in the corner of each of these squares. There are two teams; each team has ten players (capped by the numbers 0 to 9). The objective of the game is to move the ball from your team's start point (usually the left side) to your opponents' goal by kicking it. The obvious difference between this and a Tic-Tac-Toe game is that in football the goal is not only confined to the corner, but the whole goal area (except the corners) is the area in which the players can move. Identification of a novel frameshift mutation in the bifunctional enzyme (GCH1) causing hyperphenylalaninemia type 2 in Japanese patients. Hyperphenylalaninemia is an autosomal recessive inherited disease of tyrosine, phenylalanine, and tryptophan metabolism. The disease can be classified into three types, namely, hyperphenylalaninemia type 1 (HPA1), hyperphenylalaninemia type 2
