Maternal anxiety and depression are common symptoms of maternal psychiatric illness, and are associated with adverse cognitive sequelae in offspring. Recent findings from twins suggest that this association is not merely the result of genetic loading. Thus, in this paper we review the evidence for the association between maternal psychiatric illness and offspring cognitive function. Medline was searched for literature pertaining to this topic. Further studies of known psychiatric variables and offspring IQ are needed. Potential mediators, including substance abuse, marital instability and unemployment may play a part in the transmission of these risks. Maternal psychiatric illness may be a risk factor for a variety of common mental disorders in offspring. Further research in this area is needed, particularly longitudinal research with a variety of genetic models. welcome to my blog September 9, 2013 Gigi Hitoe Another girl from my hometown is a Paris Fashion Week model and she's Gisele Hitoe! I love her style; she has a very nice elegant and trendy look! She wore a nice off-shoulder dress with a lace overlay and a cute coat. The color is also super nice. I can't wait to see her outfits for Spring/Summer 2014! I am so happy to be one of the first people to see her work and to know that she has been a long time friend of my friend's sister's (Echo) mom's who is one of my idol since she was born.
