They will auto detect the controller in the config you can edit it to any controller. The steps to use it. Add the device/driver, download the file, double click it and update the driver. 1. How do I get the latest NVIDIA graphics driver? There are two alternatives to choose from. Either the choice should be auto detect the controller or the select from a list of the controllers present in the BIOS and driver won't be needed. Good old driver can be downloaded here: Good day.I want to install the newest driver on my computer. Is there someplace I can check for drivers? Jul 3, 2011 Jun 14, 2011 +1 for needing to install the driver in the BIOS Jun 13, 2011 i bought a used 210, i get the option to turn on the driver in bios. i turn on the driver and the monitor gets really bright and says overscan detected or something like that. i'm in the dark now. May 19, 2011 there's been a free nvidia driver for the geforce 210 for around 2 or 3 years now. at least according to nvidias site. i couldn't find any that didn't have annoying bugs. the latest one was for windiws 7. i tried it and it worked pretty well. it had no bugs other than trying to decide if i was using the onboard vga or the vga card. Feb 2, 2011 I'm hoping to have a GeForce 210 installed on my PC this weekend. This is going to be a sweet little videocard. But first I have to make sure everything is set up correctly. I'm going to be playing Counter-Strike and needing this card to run quickly and well. Will this card be able to run CS in a satisfactory way? What else does this card need to run well? Why doesn't the pop-up say if I need a driver? I have everything set up to download drivers from the site. I have already downloaded the file, but it won't open. Why doesn't it auto-open? I've been downloading drivers for a while now, and I've never had a pop-up saying if I need a driver or if I don't. Does this card need a driver? If I don't need 570a42141b
