* Photoshop Photo Editing Tutorial * Introduction to Photoshop * Introduction to Photoshop Elements * Understanding Photoshop - a Tutorial Some issues and concerns If you're contemplating getting involved in Photoshop, you need to be aware of a few issues. These include: Software costs. Photoshop costs between $500-$600 for the license and between $200-$400 per year to download updates. (In a photography course, this equates to a lot of money!) * Compatibility issues. A lot of Photoshop programs (software) can't operate with each other. A MacBook Pro may have fewer options than a PC, and using hardware-specific features in Photoshop requires a lot of trial and error. * Bandwidth issue. Millions of images are generated each day. Some shots are created using Canon's EOS cameras or Kodak's film scanners. Digital images are then edited using Photoshop. Uploading of these images to an Internet website is a significant issue for network operators. Many organizations now offer a service to ensure they aren't the congestion bottleneck. Transfer of images to other media. Many photographers' systems have limits on the number of images that can be imported. In addition, a lot of images need to be reworked. It's a big job. Some people like working with a 4K Hi-Def desktop projector, and a setup such as this can cost $10,000-$15,000. You can get amazing results from Photoshop and also make a lot of mistakes. While the amount of time it takes to learn to use Photoshop is relatively short, the time it takes to learn how to use it effectively is longer. Read all available materials such as books, magazines, and websites. Learn how to work with layers, masks, and channels. If you aren't sure what some of these functions do, don't worry. Learn the basics and then work on the more advanced topics as you go. Photoshop Isn't a Program to Skimp on Newbies make the mistake of thinking that using Photoshop is a matter of selecting "easy" options on the left side and then relying on the program to do the rest. The truth is that Photoshop is a program that is almost impossible to master. Photoshop is an image-editing program that introduces you to a nonlinear way of working with images that was the norm with film. This kind of process is so

You can also click and drag layers to move them. Layer Comps You can save layers as Comps, which is short for comps. Layer comps are similar to layer groups. You can insert a comp layer into a layer by clicking on the layer and dragging it into the layer comp's area. Objects Objects are the basic unit of creating visual images. Objects include standard graphics, frames, and symbols. Object properties are properties of a certain object. You can name them, change their layer, or delete them. The Selection tab has a toolbar. Sitting around idle for long periods of time can be hard on your device - both your wallet and your laptop are tired of spending money on replacement. Luckily, there are plenty of ways to take charge of those idle moments to keep both the computer and your bank account healthy. Here are the best ways to get a productive use out of those idle minutes. 1. Take a bit of downtime to compile that spreadsheet Let's face it, we spend way too much time filling out spreadsheet with our phone either in bed, or at a cafe. So, why not take a little time to compile this information for your accountant? If you need to save money on your phone bill, see if you can bundle your calls together and have a single call instead of roaming around the place. Use apps like Spring to make bundling your calls a breeze. 1. Start your day with three cups of coffee This may not be obvious, but start the morning off right by having a coffee first thing. Coffee increases alertness and helps you stay productive. The National Coffee Association reports that the average person uses $155 worth of coffee in an average month. That's $6,320 a year. So for just one coffee, it'll be a huge time and money saver. It makes me think about how I started my day off, the thought that once I hit my minimum payment on my phone bill I know I'm going to be mooching off my wife and trying to do all those expensive things, how nice it would have been if I had coffee at the start of my day to put me in a healthier mood and start to feel like I could pull myself out of all those expensive habits of mine. But now it's too late. 2. Fill in that form on the train Put that list of contacts to form on the train, put that email or two to send out on the train. Just write it out and get it done. I've done this for years, on trains to Sydney or Melbourne, on the bus or when I'm doing my work on-line. Because it's so easy it's honestly all a huge productivity improvement. I usually go for a 20 minute train journey. Not because it's going to kill me, but because I literally write out 2 or three emails, get as much work done as I can and then read something
