Type 2 firewall (also known as complex firewall or protocol relay firewall) is used when a relay server (e.g. Exchange) is desired. The mail server communicates with the client as usual, but relays it on to the server using the same protocols and in the same way as the client. In this configuration, the mail server automatically relays to the mail server. Exchange is a good example of a type 2 firewall. 3. mail part mail part, or simply mail, is a client library for mail access. It is simple, lightweight, and powerful.
