I want to build a selected items list for a multiple selection on a table. Here is what I have so far: {% for item in wpm_items.top_10 %} {% if item.author %} {% endif %} {% endfor %} This will create a selected/unselected/else list of items in wpm_items.top_10 however I want to create a selected list of only the items that have "author" as part of the item's author name, but am having issues with the if and nested for loops. Any help or ideas would be very helpful. A: You can make multiple calls to.filter: [{% for item in wpm_items.top_10 %} {% if item.author %} {% endif %} {% endfor %}] .filter(lambda x: x.author) Django 1.8 will bring your much needed.values() to the fore: [{% for item in wpm_items.top_10 %} {% if item.author %} {% endif %} {% endfor %}] .values('author') Make sure to convert your values to a list or tuple! So for a list you need: [
