Two adjacent parcels owned by the developer would be combined into one. The project, called Silver Springs at San Diego State University, would be on property Yankovich owns at the edge of campus. The studio apartments would be about 400 square feet. Yankovich said he's considering a mix of studios, one- and two-bedroom units. The project area would front on 1/2 State, with an alley connecting it to Del Mar Boulevard behind the site. Rent would likely range from $1,200 to $1,400 a month, Yankovich said. The developer's other project in the area is the 10-unit, low-income senior housing project named Refuge House, at State and Seventh. It is zoned for three units but is being built with four. Yankovich would build a second row of apartments next to the senior housing, for a total of 54 units. Refuge House owners could qualify for the federal Low Income Housing Tax Credits, which eliminate a portion of the cost of the project. Yankovich also has a proposal to build eight affordable rental units at 4506 60th St. That project would consist of a four-story building with 36 apartments. The present invention relates to a method of producing gas-permeable membranes from polytetrafluoroethylene (hereinafter referred to as PTFE) to be used in semiconductor fine structure processing equipment. With progress in the degree of integration of semiconductor devices, semiconductor fine structure processing has been made to attain higher precision. In particular, the aspect ratio of fine features (geometrical ratio of height to width of the fine feature) has been recently increasing, so that a new method is required to deposit a material with a high degree of precision. In the manufacture of conventional semiconductor devices, a thin film with a thickness of 2.μm or more is deposited on the substrate

The Samajwadi Party has always led the awareness activities in Moradabad. The party has continued its programme of awareness regarding polio vaccine till now.

The party also worked to eradicate the polio from the area. The Samajwadi Party launched its programme in 2011 with a slogan, "Aye Karoba, Aye Rin ke liye." It also launched a massive awareness campaign by including a message of polio vaccine in the public address system of PWD vehicles used to ferry the passengers of the city. A massive health camp was held in April 2013. The camp was funded by the Uttar Pradesh government. In 2013, the sanitary workers were asked to record the numbers of polio drops they gave out. In 2016, the records showed that the government of Uttar Pradesh had given out only 20 percent of the possible number of polio drops it had recommended. This figure indicates the shortfall of polio vaccination in the region. Now, the accused were released due to lack of evidence. The cases of the children and their parents are now waiting for the court verdict, which will take over a month to deliver. ---Get real-time updates as this story unfolds.
