Even with its learning curve, understanding the features of Photoshop is essential to successfully manipulating your image files. Some of the features that we discuss in this chapter are specific to the software and others are more universal and accessible to all photographic software applications. Using the Guided Tour The Photoshop User Guide gives a detailed description of the software. However, to teach you how to use the software, the following tutorial walks through some of the tools and features. Follow this tutorial to get started with the software and get your editing skills up to speed. The Image Editing Process Photoshop's editing process takes place entirely in the Layers panel. The Layers panel appears in all the document windows and contains the layers that you have created. You create these layers when you apply one layer of an image over a previous layer in the layered windows. Photoshop normally has eight layers, although you can have more or less. The eight layers are not fixed to a specific number. This tutorial uses six layers: a background and five subject layers. The best method of working with layers is to follow the steps in the

Livni-Lieberman may split on compulsory service Security Cabinet members and Finance Minister Shaul Mofaz would not deny that there is a gap in their positions vis-à-vis a proposal to draft Arab soldiers to the Israeli army. (photo credit:Yonatan Sindel/Flash90) Tzippi Livni, the chairman of the Kadima faction in the Knesset's Security Cabinet, said there were gaps and opposition to the draft before the new government in Israel. The divide is between Livni's attitudes and those of Finance Minister Shaul Mofaz on the issue of Arab soldiers in the Israel Defense Forces. "There's no doubt, and I won't deny that it exists," Livni said. "There are gaps, and the timing of the situation." Mofaz has said he would support a draft if Israel decides to do so, but that he is not convinced that there is a need for it. In his opinion, Israel does not expect a war, and it would be prepared to use the draft in that case, Mofaz said in response to a question from The Jerusalem Post. The Kadima chairman said that it was Israel's duty to ask questions about security for the country's citizens, but that he was not convinced that drafting soldiers from the Arabs in the territories would help Israel. Livni, who was part of the new government's negotiating team during the release of kidnapped IDF soldier Gilad Shalit in 2011, said Israel had learned over the years that young Jewish men and women from Arab towns in Israel did not want to serve in the IDF. The gaps Livni described included the way Israel was going about the draft. "Most recently we decided to draft soldiers from Arab cities, but we did not tell the public. We didn't tell the Arabs or the ones we began to draft," she said. The issue came to light after Israel decided to begin drafting 18- and 19-year-old men from Arab towns in the West Bank and the Gaza Strip. Livni said during the recent cabinet meeting that, under discussions with Defense Minister Ehud Barak, it was decided to draft the soldiers on a different timetable than the rest of the

Q: How to convert list of longs to list of strings I have a list of ids that I want to convert to a list of strings using Python. Is there any way to do this? I tried the following code. print list(map(str, long(1,5))) But it gives me the following error AttributeError: 'NoneType' object has no attribute 'item' I want the list of strings to look like this. ['one','two','three','four','five'] A: You have a bad example (causing the error you pasted), but as mentioned in comments I'd suggest using a collections.deque. In [2]: from collections import deque In [3]: deque([1, 2, 3, 4, 5]) Out[3]: deque([1, 2, 3, 4, 5]) In [4]: print list(deque([1, 2, 3, 4, 5])) [1, 2, 3, 4, 5] I'd suggest you should try to implement a more natural solution to your problem. It looks more natural and robust to implement with a list rather than map. Edit: To be fair the solution should also handle the case when a deque is empty, and not throw an exception. In [7]: q = deque([1, 2, 3, 4, 5]) In [8]: if q: ...: print list(q) ...: else: ...: print "[]", ...: [1, 2, 3, 4, 5] A: Is this what you need? >>> s = "one" + "two" + "three" + "four" + "five" + "six" >>> list(s) ['one', 'two', 'three', 'four', 'five','six'] So, you can just add all your longs together and pass it to the list function.
