Primary sodium storage disease (NSSD) is a severe neonatal disease caused by mutations in either E1 or E2 subunits of the ATPase in humans and rats. Despite the presence of the disease in both species, studies have been lacking to examine the associated changes at the biochemical level. Here we report the quantitative and spectral analysis of the Na+-K+ ATPase protein in a rat transgenic model of this disorder. The specific activity of the Na+-K+ ATPase was significantly reduced in skeletal muscle (8 +/- 3% of wild-type levels) while the protein abundance was only 20% of wild-type. Western blot analyses indicated an increase in the protein degradation rate. These changes were not observed in the brain, heart or kidney, which in contrast exhibited levels of the Na+-K+ ATPase comparable to wild type. The decrease in Na+-K+ ATPase activity in skeletal muscle is consistent with the in vivo reduction in body weight and muscle mass observed in NSSD animals. The quantitative and spectral analyses provide a sensitive measure of the effects of disease on Na+-K+ ATPase in this rat model.Q: Dynamically changing the properties of an element based on the innerHTML of another element? I'm trying to change the value of the properties of a certain element based on the value of another, I'm new to JS and would appreciate if some help. My code works fine if the value of the innerHTML of the specific element changes, but won't work if its just the content. This is the current code: var numOfParts = document.getElementById("rightNumOfParts").innerHTML; document.getElementById("rightNumOfParts").inner

"If you make up your mind what to have for breakfast, you can go have it. It won't influence your decision," Buffett said in an interview on CNBC's "Squawk Box." "But I think you probably will have a better breakfast if you just have to think about it... for a little while longer, because of the political forces that have been working on it, and believe me, they have been working on it... The political forces are upset that he has been unapologetically himself." The billionaire investor's support for Trump doesn't come as a surprise. He's an avid backer of Trump's plan to reform the tax code and has been a loyal supporter of the President since the campaign began. In recent days, he has called the media's coverage of Trump a "lynching" and hit back at the Democratic National Committee for not denouncing presumptive Democratic nominee Hillary Clinton for a scandal concerning the Clinton Foundation. He also said that just
