This tutorial provides step-by-step instructions on how to use some of the layers and styles in Photoshop to produce a mock-up of a check bounce, a common feature in magazine advertising with which readers can compare the quality of checks. Before you begin this tutorial, we highly recommend visiting our tutorial on creating checks with Photoshop. It will provide a good basic understanding of layers in Photoshop and helps provide the foundation to build upon for this tutorial. How to Make a Check Bounce Using Photoshop

First, open Adobe Photoshop CS3 or later. Create a new document, 600 pixels wide and 600 pixels high, in Photoshop. The default size is fine, but it is important to use this size since it is used by most of the images in this tutorial. Note: In Photoshop, you can view the default resolutions of an image by using the Image Size tool in the Window menu. Image Size is in the bottom-left corner of the screen. Add a new layer below your background layer. A layer is a container in which you can place different image and text elements, such as your bounce image. Pick Image > Image Size, and change the image size from 600 to 360 pixels. Again, the default size is fine for this tutorial, but it is important to use this size because this is the size that most check images are seen in. Add a new layer below your background layer, and use the Rectangle tool to draw a box in the center of the photo. Fill this box with white. Use the Paint

Bucket Tool to fill the area surrounding the box with white. For this tutorial, create a new layer for the bounce graphic. Use the Rectangle Tool to draw a box on top of the white background. Go to Image > Canvas Size and resize your box to 400 x 200 pixels. This is more of a demonstration rather than actual size. Pick Image > Image Size and change the image size from 400 to 160 pixels. Again, the default size is fine for this tutorial, but it is important to use this size because this is the size that most check images are seen in. Use the Rectangle Tool to draw a box around the image in the Canvas Size dialog box. Invert this layer if necessary. Go to Image > Adjustments > Desaturate. Click OK to apply the change. Now, add a new layer and create a logo for

9) * The sectional line controversy ended, with Southern states being created in the absence of a property qualification for voting. Those Republicans who had made the original compromise were keen to achieve a great deal. For example, Representative John Bell said in the House: * "We have been driven into a corner, and the way out is in sight.... The South will no longer be a battleground." * "Now, here is this Grand Old Lady hobbling on to her deathbed." (Congress, 16th Cong., 1st Sess., 13) For the moment the threat of a new civil war had been averted. Further Reading Secondary sources on secession and the Civil War are numerous. Characterization of binding of a monoclonal IgM antibody to the binding sites of the filamentous bacteriophage lambda z. An IgM monoclonal antibody was selected against the filamentous phage lambda z. The antibody binds to the 'head' subunit protein of the phage and inhibits host phage adsorption to a wild-type bacteriophage lambda. The Fab fragment of the antibody inhibits phage adsorption but not filament formation. The Fab fragment binds to free phage lambda z with a dissociation constant (K_d) of 0.34 nM. The binding of antibody to free phage z is sensitive to acid but not to heat. The binding epitopes are inaccessible to antibodies but accessible to proteolytic enzyme. The epitopes are located at the ends of the phage tail tube and also in the sheath. The Fab fragment is less efficient than the intact antibody in inhibiting phage adsorption.
