The full package of motion data captured by 19 cameras and 65 sensors comprises over eight terabytes of data. This data creates a simulation of pitch conditions that is accurate to within one centimeter. HyperMotion Technology is used in the creation of numerous characteristics of soccer, including player speed, ball physics, goalkeepers, goalkeeper behavior, corner work, tackling, and ball flight. The player speed results from the hardware-based motion capture of the players, while the ball physics are built from the player and ball interactions. Other gameplay characteristics are created by combining the real-life player and ball movement data from the motion capture with the motion capture data of more than 50 players over the past two years of FIFA tournaments. These data were collected from a wide variety of games in multiple FIFA competition environments. "The feedback that fans have been giving us with the FIFA 20 season was that they wanted more realistic soccer," said Peter Moore, Executive Vice President at EA SPORTS. "With the introduction of 'HyperMotion Technology,' we are delivering that to the global community in the most authentic and fun way possible. It's an exciting time in FIFA development." The main components of "HyperMotion Technology" include: FIFA 22 Major New FeaturesQ: Text area fails to format in.rdlc report In our RDLC (SSRS 2008 r2) reports we have a field where the user enters text. The Field Properties have the Format property set to Text so that the text is formatted accordingly. This works correctly in all other reports except the one with text entry. I have tried this with different text area properties and also tried Expression instead of Format to no avail. I have exported these reports as XML and verified that the result does display a text area in XML with Format set to Text. What am I missing here? A: Instead of a text area, create a text box and format the text box with the required format. Q: How to replace characters in string based on counts I have a list of words in a list of list. These words can contain numbers too, e.g. bla2 bla4 bla3 bla51 This can of course be generated by: import re words = re.findall('[a-z

Fifa 22 Features Key:

- New ball physics, including variability and the forward-thinking new RSPD (Radial Solid Pitch Deformation);
- New clubs and venues are designed for increased authentic feel, and deliver interactive and multisensory authenticity;
- New cleat interface, including new flex control, which allows players to control game-sensing elements on the ball;
- FIFA 20 game engine with absolutely no game breaking bugs.

While the features are varied across both career modes, there are also specific new features for players of FIFA Ultimate Team Mode:

- Become the ultimate FIFA Cup director;
- Complete a new FIFA Ultimate Team Ability database;
- Set trade requests to change teams;
- Picks are now determined by on-going game activity and match play.

Key differences between FIFA Ultimate Team Mode and Career Mode:

- New Ultimate Team Ability - Using trade requests, Puts, and other requests you form parties and place them in your item database. Then you can prioritize the training of these abilities to assist you in the upcoming matches.

- New Ability database - Collect the rank-ups for your Ultimate Team Ability database, and use new party modes to queue squad changes on the go.
- Match - Possess the most data and also actively monitor the play in the upcoming game. Your abilities will perform with more accuracy, and also your set-pieces should convert more often.

FIFA Ultimate Team - The iconic Ultimate Team mode is back in FIFA 22 with an all-new game engine, new gameplay systems, and revolutionary

What's new in Fifa 22:

- Powering every decision with Pro Player Intelligence, new intelligence directly from players is used to give every player, every stadium and every team their own unique Personality.
- All-new Real Player Motion - using game-capturing motion-capture, players' every movement and every decision is used to make every player in your team show how they play with their own unique style.
- All-new Run and Jump Exo-skeleton —combining rigid exoskeleton with full-body biomechanical simulation, players are able to achieve new heights in the air. Rigid parts of the Exo-skeleton can be enhanced or modified, allowing players to build their own unique suit tailored to individual needs.
- Lift and shift mechanics - transfer selected players into pre-set formations, with individual ball control, flexibility and power. The player will dynamically respond to successful instructions from the coach on the pitch.
- Player Merge - Take your favourite club player and reassign their location to any position in the squad. They can then play within the team as they normally would, and their data will be used to help develop the player regardless of their position.
- Linebreaks - The perfect substitute take a forward, midfielder or defender, place them in a starting position and suddenly you've got a full-strength team to compete!
- Football 24/7 - Keep a football game going in simulation mode and play around the clock. No cut-scenes, no dialogue boxes - just intense football.
- All-new Genuine Player Passivity - with the temperature affecting a player's performance, you can now ditch a passivity timer forcing the player to cool down between a tackle. Talk to your Pro at the end of a game to reset it.
- Player Customisation - present your Pro with their perfect kit design, including all 20 clubs, and change your heartthrob's boots. You can take the kit of whoever you want as a surprise to their loved one.

- Looking to lead by example on the pitch - The sideline cam will intelligently follow your favourite player without you having to spell out instructions. And, if they suddenly decide to take a dive, the camera will go with them.
 - Presenting to your manager - Most players
