company official said that "the interrogation is trying to determine the motive of Manohar Lal Khurana, giving false statement to police, who raided
his house in 1984,
thereby triggering

---

the biggest banking fraud of the century, which led to his conviction by the court". According to sources, a special team is now interrogating 11 of those still under custody in

Maharashtra's Pune. Later, five other officials were also arrested by the police. The top five accused,
including Khurana,
have been
sentenced to jail
by a court in Pune
and they are

currently serving
their sentences.
Khurana, along
with his fellow
accused Suresh Vangal, was arrested in March 1984 and had gone underground
after the Mumbai-
based RDX Bank

was raided. After he landed up in Pune, he opened several bank accounts in other names. The money from these accounts was transferred to accounts in foreign banks under the assumed names of his relatives, friends and former associates, the CBI said. They were also found guilty of passing on fake financial statements to people who were paying him money through fake companies. The scam was unearthed in the summer of 1985. The bank was nationalized under an emergency provision in July 1985, when the government of

---

---

India nationalized
all nationalized
banks in the country with the exception of public-
sector banks.

Khurana and his accomplices had used the cover of nationalized banks
by closing bank

accounts and opening fake companies. The scam may have cost the bank as much as Rs 27,000 crore, making it the biggest banking fraud of the 20th century. Nobody has yet been arrested in connection with the case. The 26th Finance Commission has not recommended any reduction in the annual deficit of the country or the net worth of its public sector
