GetRadio is a simple application designed to provide you with the possibility to listen to worldwide radio stations straight from your computer, while also allowing you to record music from them. A user-friendly interface The tool comes with a simple, easy-to-use interface, which makes it suitable for users who do not possess advanced technical skills, as well as for advanced users. Upon initialization, the application loads a list of available radio stations, allowing you to select the one you want to listen to from the right side of its main window. The list provides you with info on the station's name, as well as with details on its connection settings and on the traffic data. The software allows you to favorite stations in order to access them faster, or to send channels to junk, provided that you don't like them.

A search function is also included in the app, in addition to an option that provides you with the possibility to create your own stations. Easily record music One of the most appealing capabilities of GetRadio is that it allows you to record the music played by selected radio stations. The app provides a direct link to the folder of recordings, for fast access to them, while also allowing you to select a specific folder for saving the recorded music. Additionally, you can enable GetRadio to automatically record tracks when playing radio and you can also minimize it to system tray on close. GetRadio uses a moderate amount of system resources and delivers a very good response time. The application felt quite snappy during our testing, and did not crash, while also offering good sound quality of the output audio tracks. GetRadio offers a wide range of channels to choose from (it can play over 25,000 online stations), although it doesn't display their country of origin. In conclusion All in all, GetRadio should easily prove an appealing radio player for both beginners and advanced users, especially since it offers access to a wide range of radio stations and it can also record music, thus allowing them to listen to it at a later time.
