You can also securely store your medication in a Hero dispenser (shown above) in your home, work, or car, then access them in the app. You are able to track and refill your medications with the Hero App on your phone without ever having to come into the hospital. The dispenser can also be used to monitor your condition, and sends the data to our secure cloud server. The Hero not only protects your medication, but also holds your data. That's where the Hero app comes in. It's what you use to track your medication, monitor your condition and set up treatments. There are two ways you can get the Hero App: to visit gethero.com to download the Hero app, or to get a free Hero starter pack: a Hero dispenser and a 30-day trial subscription to the Hero App. Plus you get the choice of two unique flavors of Hero Medication. We also have a free demo video to get you started." Metahero deserves a lot of love and attention. I have a lot of respect for all of the Metahero team, they really make work and business great! The technology, the interesting concepts and everything points to a potential really exciting project that I'm really excited about. Just like with the MedMinder device, Metahero gives users complete peace of mind without ever leaving the house. Users simply buy a Hero dispenser online, install the medication management app on their phone, and set a schedule to refill their medication on a daily basis. It truly makes your medication much easier to manage and your healthcare more organized. Metahero runs using the vision ecosystem. The ecosystem is comprised of i.e., a decentralised, blockchain powered inventory, public and private key system, tokens, smart contract on Ethereum and other Ethereum tokens, smart contract on Hyperledger and other blockchain networks,
